

John's 1000 Hurts Font [DEMO VERSION]

Created by Quick Brown Fox Fonts / Lauren C. Brown
QuickBrownFoxFonts.com

JOHN'S 1000 HURTS
THE QUICK BROWN FOX JUMPS
OVER THE LAZY DOG.

The John's 1000 Hurts handwriting font was scrawled out one evening on a piece of paper by a friend in high school while we sat listening to records. I think it nicely captures high school angst. Since its release (probably in late 2000), I've added several more glyphs, including accent characters.

This is a DEMO version of the font.

It includes only uppercase and lowercase letters.
You can use the demo version for personal use.

I highly recommend that you download the LATEST version of this font on my website, QuickBrownFoxFonts.com.

My demo fonts may be distributed through any media, as long as this PDF file is included, you are not selling the fonts, and you don't claim them as your own.

Here's how to get the full version:

The full version of the font, which can be purchased at QuickBrownFoxFonts.com, also contains numbers, most punctuation, most accent characters, and many symbols.

You can view the full character map at QuickBrownFoxFonts.com, as well as licensing options.

Whatever you use the font for, I'd love to see what you come up with! Feel free to contact me through my website and tell me about your project.

Thank you kindly!

Lauren C. Brown

QuickBrownFoxFonts.com

This document was last updated on September 10, 2016.